

Hey Guy,

Having seen the evolution of My Clean Sky it is a privilege to be now able to say “let’s cooperate to reduce my carbon footprint.”

As I develop each of my new Wild Discovery Guides I am all too aware of our global problems of over-population and excessive resource use by sectors of the global community with Australians being major offenders in that regard.

I, with your other clients, look forward to your positive contribution to bringing about a much needed change. As of today all my flight carbon offsets will be with My Clean Sky.

Please consider me part of the family and I look forward to a positive relationship and contribution towards our desperate situation globally.

Best Regards,
